MONDAY, August 16, 1773.

At a Meeting of the Inhabitants of the Town of Holden, legally Assembled the 26th of January, 1773.

AFTER considering the pamphlet from Boston, setting forth our liberty, and privileges, both civil and religious, proceeded to chuse a committee of five men to draw up some resolves that was proper to lay before said town; the meeting was then adjourn'd to the first day of March following.

THE resolves then being laid before said town, and not put to vote, the aforesaid committee being desirous of having it laid before the town again, and accordingly an article was inserted in the warrant for May meeting, respecting the same, on the 20th of May, 1773.

THEN the aforesaid resolves being laid before said town, are as follows, (viz.)

Resolved, 1st. That liberty both religious and civil, is a most precious and inestimable gift of the great and glorious Creator of all things, granted to all rational creatures; neither can any person or persons innocently give or sell it away from himself, any more than he can take it from another.

2*ly*. If any have been so unhappy as to surrender their liberty, such act of theirs cannot induce any moral obligations of servitude on them personly, especially if they were enslaved by irresistable power. Surely then it cannot reasonably bind their successors in every future generation.

3*ly*. That it is to us equally manifest that no one nation, state, or political society, has any right to rule or command another, especially without the consent of the latter.

4*thly*. The people of New-England have never given the people of Britain any right of Jurisdiction over us, consequently, we deem it to be the most unwarrantable usurpation, and view it as an insufferable insult in the British parliament, that they assume a legislative authority over the American colonies.

5*thly*. We chearfully profess the most perfect loyalty to the king, as having an essential voice in our charter government.

6*thly*. We are assured that no political community on Earth can truly enjoy liberty without civil government, therefore civil government is an invaluable divine blessing, and anarchy is the greatest of publick evils, one only excepted, that is, a state of compleat and confirm'd tyranny.

7*thly*. And such tyranny is evidently the object of some very recent measures of the British administration and government, particularly those mentioned to us in a letter from our worthy friends the citizens of Boston, and the project of despotism and arbitrary government, appears to be nearly accomplished and settled, so that nothing but the vigilance and combined efforts of this people under the auspicious providence of Heaven, can save us from abject slavery and total ruin.

8*thly*. Therefore we are compelled to speak and divulge our sober and very grievous apprehensions, and are willing all mankind should know that we are far from acquiescing in the many gross violations of our just rights, too conspicuous and palpable now to require a particular enumeration, & truly we should be chargeable with very criminal silence if we did not remonstrate against every glaring attempt of any person or persons of what rank or denomination soever, to bereave us of our liberty.

9*thly*. Resolved, That the right of Kings (whether it be a human or divine right) is founded on the same principles of public liberty which we assert, and the right of our present sovereign George the IIId, to the British throne, was explicitly by compact derived from the same principle.

10*thly*. And therefore we must behold them as guilty of treason against his sacred Majesty, and his illustrious house, who are making attempts to subvert the liberties of his faithful subjects, as nothing can be more repugnant to the constitution of England, and of this province, than that GEORGE should be King of Slaves: so if the antiquated doctrine of passive obedience and non-resistance should now revive, and move abroad, and half the nation were so blind and infatuated as to embrace such a deformed Monster, the Throne must shake and tumble to the very basis: The Lord Almighty avert the horrid catastrophy. To prevent it our prayers and endeavours shall not be wanting.

11*thly*. In publishing our sentiments and resolutions, we are moved by natural and christian benevolence to the good people of Britain, whose prosperity is dear to us as our own; it is therefore our hearty prayer that God would preserve them from the depth of political lethargy, and mercifully defend them from the iron fangs of tyranny. As slavery has ever been abhorrent to the genius of Britain, it must be peculiarly shameful and painful to Englishmen till we shall have lost the right spirit of our truly worthy ancestors, and forfeited the English name. As we are far from suspecting the people of Britain (our old natural ally) of being inimical to us, our ardent brotherly love to them is, an additional incitement to assert our freedom, it being very certain that if liberty expires here, it will not long survive there: We are therefore ambitious of transmitting our names to all posterity as favour'd instruments in the hand of God of having preserved Britain from destruction. Therefore we supplicate the Throne of Mercy, that God would excite his people in Britain and America to a reformation of morals; because, as sin is the reproach and ruin of a people, so righteousness exalteth a nation to the summit of happiness and glory.

12*thly*. Therefore Resolved, That there is an intimate connection between the liberty and the virtue of any people; if liberty be gone, religion will infallibly languish to extinction.

13*thly*. We plead for liberty, because it is the respectable patroness of the liberal arts and sciences: This was doubtless the judgment of our pious and worthy ancestors who chose a wild desert with liberty, rather than the fruitful field and beautiful gardens of their native land with slavery; and who were in their first settlement very zealous to erect a seminary of learning, as well as to build and multiply christian and protestant churches: We desire to follow their noble example, to promote in our measure learning and liberty in delightful and harmonious union; and would now recommend it to our children, and to their successors forever, to be imitators of us and our truly wise, virtuous & venerable progenitors.

14*th*. We think it our duty on this occasion in behalf of ourselves and our dear country, to express our sincere gratitude to the respectable gentlemen of Boston, for the light and counsel they have presented to us in the circular letter, and their many generous efforts in the cause of liberty, and it is our earnest prayer to almighty God, that they may be animated still to proceed, and that they may prosper according to the design of their hearts and receive the most ample and durable reward.

That the above resolves be recorded on the town-book of records, and that the town clerk give an attested copy to said committee, to be transmitted to the committee of correspondence at Boston.

The above being put to vote and pass'd in the affirmative. John Child, Moderator.

A true copy per Israel Davis, Town-Clerk.

To the Committee of CORRESPONDENCE for the Town of BOSTON.

GENTLEMEN,

At a meeting of the inhabitants of Lincoln, legally convened upon the 25th of January 1773, after the choice of a moderator, proceeded to the choice of a committee, to take into consideration the present circumstances of the town, with respect to their constitutional rights and privileges in common with all other towns in the province, and report at the adjournment, and the meeting was adjourned to the 8th of February, at 1 o'clock afternoon. And at said adjournment the town being assembled, the committee report as follows,

HAVING receiv'd a circular letter from the committee of correspondence for the town of Boston, wherein they have set forth the rights and privileges we are entitled unto by our constitution, with a list of the infringments made thereon, to which in general we consent and approve, and that thanks be given to the town of Boston for the same.

And we hereby assure, that we will not be wanting in our assistance according to our ability, in prosecuting all lawful and constitutional measures, as that be proper for the continuance of all our rights, privileges and liberties, both civil and religious, being of opinion that a steady, united, persevering conduct in a constitutional way, is the best means under God for the obtaining the redress of all our grievances, and that the town-clerk record the same in the town book, and that a copy thereof be forthwith transmitted to the committee of correspondence for the town of Boston. Which is humbly submitted, per order, Ebenezer Cutler.

At said adjournment after repeated reading the report, voted by the town the acceptance thereof.

Abijah Peirce, Moderator.

Attest, John Adams, Town-clerk.

WORCESTER, August 9, 1773.

WHEREAS Sir Richard Sutton, of Kennington Lane, in the County of Surrey in Great-Britain, has discovered certain Medicines, preparatory, and effectual in, the Cure of the Small-Pox, and which have been used, with a Success till then unknown, in the principal Cities and Kingdoms of Europe, and in some Parts of North-America.—He having rendered a Disease, one of the most destructive to Mankind, by his Method perfectly safe, having never lost a Patient out of the incredible Number of more than Thirty Thousand that he has Innoculated, notwithstanding many of the Number were in a very ill State of Health at the Time they were Innoculated—but happily by this Method they were perfectly Restored.—And in order to extend the Benefit of this Method, he did appoint Dr. James Latham, (Surgeon of the 8th or King's Regiment of Foot, now residing at the Manor of Livingston, in the Province of New-York,) his Principal Deputy for North-America, for carrying on Innoculation there, and did give the said Dr. Latham full Power, to depute such Person or Persons, as he should judge proper as a Partner or Partners, in the said Business.—In consequence of such Licence, obtained from under the Hand and Seal of Dr. Sutton, the said Dr. James Latham, &c. has appointed Dr. William Paine, of Worcester, in the County of Worcester, in the Province of the Massachusetts-Bay, his Deputy or Partner in the County aforesaid, with a Special Licence to practice in any Part of the Province.—And the said Dr. Latham, has in consequence of the Deputation given by him, to Dr. Paine, taught, and instructed him in the Art, Mystery and Method of Innoculating for the Small Pox, and treating the natural Small Pox in the aforesaid Suttonian Method.——The said Paine, in Consequence of the above Deputation, would beg leave respectfully to acquaint the Public, that he is ready, at any Time and at all Times, to attend on any Patient or Patients, that may unhappily have caught the Small Pox, or to attend at any Place, that Authority may see fit, to permit this most useful Method of Innoculation to be carried on at——

Of the above Suttonian Method of treating the Small Pox, either in a Natural Way, or by Innoculation, nothing need be said here For its Preference to any other Method hitherto investigated as it is too well known, by the great Success that Dr. Sutton, and his Partners meet with in Europe, and Dr. Latham in America.

ST. GEORGE's, (in Grenada,) July 3.

On Monday se'nnight, a dreadful gale of wind happened at Tobago, which did a great deal of damage, particularly in the windward part of the Island.—On several estates almost all their houses were blown down, as well as their plantains, and few or none have escaped without some loss.—The Lord Howe Cutter was driven on shore at Minister-Bay, but a small part of her cargo, consisting of 21 hhds. of sugar, was saved, and 'twas expected they would be able to get her hull off. A brig from Casco-Bay, Capt. Potts, was forced to put to sea with the loss of her anchors and cables, but returned in in three days, having fortunately met with the Crescent Frigate, Capt. Thompson, who supplied her with every thing she stood in need of. Capt. Potts and two of his hands endeavoured to get on board of the brig when the gale began, and have not since been heard of, so 'tis feared they all perished.

A CARD to —— in Boston.

A Warm Friend in this City to American Liberty and English Liberty, has with great Attention and Pleasure perus'd the Council and House of Representatives Answers to Governor Hutchinson's Speeches, at a Session begun January 6, 1773. He thinks the House of Representatives have enter'd into the Discussion on the fullest and most proper Ground, and have prov'd their Right as clear as the Sun at Noon Day. And it is submitted to Mr. ——'s Judgment, Whether it would not be of Advantage to have the Speeches and Answers, as printed by Edes & Gill, dispers'd in all the Colonies on the Continent; especially to be in the Hands of the leading Men in the Assembly of every Colony. LONDON, June 1773.

[The above Card was receiv'd by a Gentleman in this Town by Capt. Lyde.]

Hanover, August 12, 1773.

LAST Tuesday Col. Ezekiel Turner departed this Life, in the 73d Year of his Age. Yesterday his Remains were respectfully attended to the Grave. His Disease, which brot on Dissolution, was that most painful and excruciating Disorder, the Stone. In his last Confinement, which was long, almost a Twelvemonth, his Pains were the most exquisite, evident to every Spectator, from the most profuse Sweats.

Unsuppressible Shrieks and Groans, and immediate Incapacity of moving out of the Posture in which he was seized, by his most violent Paroxysms; all Motion ceasing, save the Trembling and Agitation, occasioned by the Rack and Torture of Nature, which, possibly may be peculiar to that Disease.

Thro' all which, he exhibited a Degree of Patience, exemplary and praise-worthy, Resignation to the Will of the Supreme Ruler, and all-wise Disposer, persevering Fortitude and Constancy.

He had often been entrusted with various Civil Offices in the Town of Hanover; for Years, had the Command of Militia; the last War was an Officer in his Majesty's Service, at the Westward; and repeatedly Represented the Town in the General Court.

In each of these Departments, while he was beneficial to the Public, he did Honor to himself.

In all the Embarrassments of the public Affairs of Government, and the continued Struggles of the People in Defence of civil Liberties, he was a steady a zealous Assertor of the Rights and Privileges of his Countrymen, and invariably, and inviolably attach'd to the Religious Constitution of this Province.

By the Death of Col. Turner, the Community have lost a Friend and Benefactor; the Town a worthy and useful Member: his Family an affectionate Husband, a kind and tender Parent, an humane and generous Master.

His Name will be had in grateful Remembrance.

N. B. The Colonel in his last Illness, from a Benevolent View, hoping that from a critical Inspection into his Case, other like miserable Sufferers might have Relief and Remedy administer'd to them, manifested at divers Times, an earnest Desire that a Search and Examination should be made after his decease.

Accordingly, the Doctors Jones, of Abington and Cushing, of Hanover, were invited by the Family to perform the Operation, who, upon opening the Corpse and searching the Bladder, found a small Quantity of Gravel, of the size of small Shott, and a Stone of an Oval figure, chiefly of a light Complexion, and as rough as a Grater;—the Measure in length, exceeded 1 & ½ of an Inch, in width 1 & ¼ Ditto, in thickness ¾ Ditto, he wt. 9 Penny.——As to the State of the Bladder, (which was said to be very uncommon) and other Particulars, the curious and inquisitive, especially Gentlemen of Faculty, may think it worth-while to Inquire of the Operators.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman of Eminence in London, to his Friend in this Town, dated June 11, 1773.

"I HAVE read Mr. Tucker's Sermon * with great Pleasure. Lord —— and Lord —— approve of it much; so they do of your Proceedings in the Town and the Assembly. They certainly do great Credit to the Province and the Cause of America.——Surely the Governor will not venture into the Field of Controversy again." (l)

* Election Sermon 1771.

On Saturday last, being the Anniversary of the memorable 14th of August 1765, when the primitive free and independent Spirit of uncorrupted British Subjects in America made a second successful Effort against Tyranny and Oppression—the Sons of Liberty, with their Fathers and Friends, from this and the neighbouring Towns, convened on Roxbury Common, to the Number of 400 Gentlemen. There was a superb Tent erected, sufficiently capacious to contain the numerous Guests—Unfortunately the Forenoon was wet, which prevented a considerable Number of Gentlemen who had engaged their Company, from sharing in the Festivity of the Day. But at the Hour of Dinner it ceased to rain, and two Ranges of Tables were filled—During the Entertainment, a select Band of Music patroled the Tent and gladdened the Hearts of the Patriots with the celebrated Song of the Farmer: The Banquet was worthy the Occasion; the rich and fertile Fields of America, were profuse of their Bounties to "the Sons of these venerable Britons who conquered and possessed the grateful Soil"—After an elegant Repast, the following patriotic Toasts were drank, succeeded by a Feu de Joy from the Cannon, and the soft Sympathy of collected Musick.

1. The PATRIOT KING, who regards the Rights of his People as the sacred Deposit of the first Magistrate.
2d. May the Elect Line of Hanover continue on the Throne of Great Britain, so long as they shall continue to Support the Principles of the Glorious Revolution.
3d. May the Wretch who Yields Implicit Obedience to the Lawless Commands of a Tyrant, receive the Rewards of a Traitor to the Constitution.
4th. A Governor Unpensioned, Judges Unbiased, and a People Uncorrupted.
5th. North America; the Land of Liberty.
6th. The Patriotic House of Burgesses of our Ancient Sister Colony of Virginia.
7th. A Constitutional and Permanent Union of the Colonies in North America.
8th. May that Glorious Contempt of Slavery which Distinguished the Antient British Barons, be Revived in Great Britain.
9th. The Illustrious Asserters of the Rights of Americans in the British Parliament.
10. May the Noble Spirit of Patriotism, which so eminently glows in America, Triumph over the Arts of Corruption and Slavery.
11. To the Immortal Memory of our Venerable Ancestors, who with the Expence of their Blood and Treasure laid the basis of this Free and Extensive Empire, which we their Children by the Blessing of Heaven are determined to Support and Perpetuate.
12. The Sons of Liberty throughout America.
13. May the Enemies to American Freedom live to Reap the Fruits of their own Defeat.
14. The Memorable 14th of August—1765.

Mirth and Decency shook Hands during the whole Festival; smiling Joy animated every Countenance, and, a determined Resolution to oppose to Death every Attempt to rob or enslave them, gave a superlative Dignity to the whole. At Six o'Clock the Company retired; having by their Deportment thro' the Day established this sacred Character, that the Enemies to Usurpation and Oppression are the great Examplars of Order and Decency.

Roxbury, August 14, 1773.

THIS being the anniversary of the ever memorable 14th of August 1765, when a successful opposition to tyranny and oppression began in this Province, and a cordial union, which makes a free People invincible, was formed.

Early in the morning a number of true Friends of Liberty assembled under a spacious Elm (near Stoney River) which they ornamented by hoisting a large Union Flag thereon; and having named said Elm LIBERTY TREE, by fixing an Inscription on the Trunk: After breakfasting together and firing several Salutes by the discharge of a Number of Pieces of Cannon, the following loyal and patriotic Toasts were drank, viz.

1. The King, Queen, and Royal Family.
2. America and her brave Sons of Liberty.
3. Liberty without Licentiousness to all Mankind.
4. The Patriotic House of Burgesses of Virginia.
5. The House of Representatives of Massachusetts Bay.
6. A fair and agreeable Day to the Sons of Liberty in the Town of Boston who intend to honor this Town with their Presence on this memorable Anniversary.
7. May the 14th of August be had in everlasting Remembrance.
8. Everlasting Infamy to such as suggest or wish an Abridgement of English Liberties. (k)
9. A steady Exert of the Enemies of Liberty, and all State Caterpillars.
10. The speedy Establishment of a wise and permanent Administration.
11. All our Friends in Great Britain.
12. A Union of the Colonies.
13. The Bishop of St. Asaph. *
14. A perpetual constitutional Union and Harmony between Great Britain and the Colonies.

The whole was conducted with Regularity & good Order.

* The Bishop of St. Asaph's excellent Sermon, lately preached before the Society for propagating the Gospel in foreign Parts, may be had at the Heart and Crown in Cornhill, Boston. ——

KEYSER's PILLS.

THE many cures daily effected by this medicine, in every appearance of the secret distemper, from the slightest symptom, to the most desperate forlorn state, has induced persons tormented with other diseases to make trys of it, which last week produced the underwritten certificate, from one well known in New-York, and now in perfect health. He was a long time the veriest of cripples by the RHEUMATISM. He took a great many of the pills, which made his cure expensive, but the health, strength and agility he now enjoys is an ample compensation for the purchase money.

Copy of W. Shipman's certificate.

Mr. RIVINGTON,

As the happy Effects of Dr. Keyser's medicine in rheumatic cases, may not be so well known as in some particular disorder, the following account of their virtue in that troublesome complaint, you are welcome to make public.

Having been for some years so violently afflicted with the rheumatism, as, at times, to be entirely deprived of the use of my limbs, confined to my bed, unable to turn or help myself in the least, rendered incapable of doing any business, and my health reduced to the lowest ebb, I tried several remedies, but without success: I at last determined to make a tryal of Dr. Keyser's pills, and agreeable to your printed directions I began taking them the beginning of September last; after taking them about two weeks I found a surprizing relief from the pain and obstructions in my right knee, where the disorder was chiefly fixed; this agreeable change encouraged me to continue taking them, which I have done to this day, without any other consequence but that happy one of being restored to perfect health and ease.

In justice to this excellent medicine, I must likewise mention another benefit I received from it.—I about two months ago perceived a small hard lump in my right arm, which was very sore and painful, and seemed to increase, I applied to a doctor to dispersed it, but he informed me it was an encreased humour, or a swell inclosed in a vesticle or a boe, and covered not to be dispersed any other way than by cutting it out; unwilling to undergo this operation, I continued the use of my best of friends, Dr. Keyser's pills, and they happily likewise removed this very painful and alarming excrescence.

This is a faithful relation of my case, and I can with an honest confidence, recommend the medicine to those who are afflicted with any rheumatic complaints.

They are sold by Dr. Goldthwaite, in boxes of 4 Dollars, 2 and ½ dollars, 1¼ dollars and ½ dollar each.
